Dear Dr. Payne:

I am the director of a local nonprofit charity called the M.S. Crisis Fund. I am writing on behalf of a gentleman named Gary Weaver. Mr. Weaver is a 54-year-old man with multiple sclerosis that is confined to his home unable to go out without assistance. I was contacted by his caregiver and was told that a computer might be beneficial to him, as it would give Gary something to do with his time.

I called several computer stores trying to get one donated to Gary. I called a store called Sky Tech computers and they told me of the wonderful way you try to help low income people get computers. They called you and you didn't waste any time getting in touch with me and putting together a computer for Gary to use. Gary is very appreciative for the computer, as am I.

The work you are doing is a generous and caring thing. Not many people would take the time to help the way you do. The offer you made to help in the future was very kind and I hope that we can take you up on it. I sincerely hope God will continue to bless you with the ability to continue your work, as it makes a real difference in a disabled persons life.

In closing, if there is anyway our organization can be of assistance please do not hesitate to call. Thank you again from Gary Weaver and, the M.S. Crisis Fund.

Sincerely,

Bill Helton

Director M.S. Crisis Fund
